Step into one of Hoar Cross Hall's most remarkable spaces

The breathtaking 114 foot Long Gallery was created for family members to walk, converse, listen to music and play games in, and was a common feature of Tudor country houses.

Today, beneath intricate plasterwork, alongside rich oak panelling and grand Sienna marble fireplaces, it remains the heart of the Hall. An enduring setting to pause, gather and enjoy each carefully crafted serve.

The original and ornate wallpaper wrapping our Grade II listed grand Ballroom is that of the prestigious British textile designer, William Morris.
